New Bits & Bobs

We have some lovely new things to tempt you with this month.

Each pack contains seven layers of petals that can be used individually or assembled with brads, buttons and more.

We have a range of lovely colours so take a look at the website for the full range.

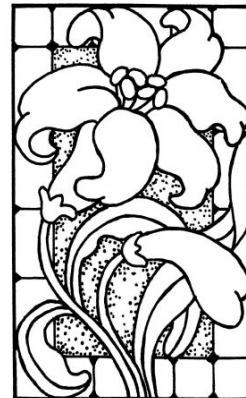

Things you may have missed

A Selection of our products on line you may not have seen so we have put together a little gallery of nic-naks.

General Embellishments Section

Fun and funky Flowerz are an instant way of giving texture and dimension. Each gerbera bloom, shaped from plush fabric, can be used individually, or layered for a profusion of petals... and here's another tip - brads are one of the best ways to attach them to your cards

These stamps are called Stained Glass, I will be having a play with them very soon and will put the results on the website.

Also new in are some beautiful new stamps.

Update

Hello Fellow Crafters

Its was all go again last month. We have been trying to source some new products. Our aim was to find something just a little bit different.

We think we have achieved this, we will have a full article on the new products in the December Newsletter.

Until the next time, Happy Crafting

Sam & Rich

2009 Survey

As you may know, last year we produced our very first customer survey.

Early in the new year we will be producing another Customer Survey.

We are looking at alternative ways of you completing the survey rather than just through the post.

On line surveys are very much common place now and we are going to be running a vote on-line soon.

Please take the time to vote, your comments are very much appreciated and where possible we act on all our returned surveys.

Our last survey response was overwhelming and this year we want to go one better... As you would expect of course..
